

INSURANCE

At Bell Nunnally, we are frequently called upon to represent insurance industry clients in matters involving complex and sophisticated coverage and claims litigation.

Our clients include insurance providers, major insurance brokerage firms and risk management companies, as well as publicly and privately held large and small businesses. We represent insurance industry clients in general business matters, including real estate transactions and employment matters. We deliver a wide range of insurance industry-specific legal services, including noncompete agreements, theft of trade secrets litigation, and appeals of litigation across many business and corporate areas.

We also help insured parties ensure they receive appropriate coverage from their insurance provider when claims are filed.
