

WHOLESALE, RETAIL AND SERVICES

Representing businesses throughout the supply chain, including wholesalers, retailers and a wide variety of service providers, we understand what it takes to move goods and services to customers and clients.

Companies must balance opportunities for growth with the need to maximize profit, compete for top salespeople and professional talent, and mitigate unauthorized sales of their products. Our experienced team advises on all types of legal issues impacting these clients, including business formation and planning, contracts, commercial financing, protection of intellectual property rights, litigation and disputes, labor and employment law, and real estate. We are experienced working with closely held and family-owned businesses and dealing with issues of succession planning, business ownership and growth.
