

BELL NUNNALLY REPRESENTS OIL AND GAS TECHNOLOGY SERVICE COMPANY WELLWORX IN SALE TO LIBERTY LIFT SOLUTIONS

May 28, 2024

Bell Nunnally's represented WellWorx Energy Solutions, LLC – a Midland, Tex.-based production service company and equipment provider for production automation, solids management, fluid handling and downhole gas management – in its recent sale to Houston-based Liberty Lift Solutions, LLC.

"From the moment we entered into a distribution agreement with Liberty Lift, it was clear their values mirrored ours in integrity and the desire to offer our customers a full solution for the total life of their wells," said Matt Raglin, WellWorx Energy President in a Liberty Lift-issued press release.

The Bell Nunnally team was led by Partner Andrew Dowdy and joined by: partners Kristopher D. Hill, Ty Johnson, Jeffrey S. Lowenstein, John D. Smart and Christopher B. Trowbridge; associates Kimberly A. Cruz, Vikram O. Kadiri and Caitlin Paulden; and Senior Counsel Christian J. Cowart.

"WellWorx, along with West Texas oil and gas legend and global innovator Matt Raglin, have been valued clients of Bell Nunnally for many years. We were honored to represent WellWorx on this transaction, which combined Bell Nunnally's talented legal skills in corporate/M&A, energy, intellectual property, real estate and litigation. We wish Matt and the entire WellWorx and Liberty Lift family success in this next stage of their successful and trailblazing business operations," said Bell Nunnally Managing Partner Christopher B. Trowbridge.

The press release noted that Liberty Lift intends to utilize WellWorx Energy's technology to augment its industry presence in the Permian Basin.

To learn more about WellWorx Energy, please click here.

Related Practices

Corporate and Securities

Mergers and Acquisitions

Practice Area Contact

Andrew Dowdy

Christopher B. Trowbridge

Kristopher D. Hill

Ty Johnson

Jeffrey S. Lowenstein

John D. Smart

Kimberly A. Cruz

Caitlin M. Richardson

Christian J. Cowart