August 05, 2019

David G. Webster is one of only 40 lawyers accepted to the Dallas Association of Young Leaders (DAYL) 2019 Leadership Class. The DAYL is the only bar organization in Dallas dedicated exclusively to the needs of young lawyers and the community service projects about which they are passionate. The professional organization has two primary goals, including: improving the quality of life for all young lawyers through education, support and entertainment, and serving the Dallas community through public service projects that young lawyers find meaningful. DAYL members volunteer their time and talents through approximately 150 different projects and thousands of volunteer hours throughout the year.
